The Satguru explained the true wisdom (Satgyan) to me and told me the secret of attaining the land of great happiness. He said that just as a snake sleeps and is then deceived by people of the world who beat it with sticks and stones, half-killing it, but it does not die until its face is crushed with sticks and spears. In the same way, the snake would wake up from sleep before being deceived, and people of the world would be afraid of it and would not be able to deceive it or kill it.

Similarly, my foolish and inert mind, being asleep in the sleep of worldly desires, was being beaten by the blows of death angle for ages. On hearing the true wisdom (Satgyan) of the Satguru, my inert mind became conscious and I realized how death angle is sitting in worldly desires. Having understood this, I renounced worldly desires and, holding the true secret (Sat-bhed) in my mind, I put an end to the blows of death angle that were falling on me

Satguru Sukhramji Maharaj says that, from ages to ages, a mighty river of greed has been flowing through the middle of the path of human life. In its midstream, entire villages of the world are flowing away, and in the current, people are suffering and dying, drowning and sinking. Only those who have taken refuge in the Satguru have been saved from being swept away in this river of greed and are being saved.

The Satguru explained to me in detail the great sufferings, small and large of the death angle that befall on the men and women of the world. Hearing these unbearable sorrows, my mind became awakened and became conscious. Just as people of the world become restless with fear when they are frightened and cannot sleep day or night due to the fear. in the same way, hearing the sorrows of being swept away in the river of lust, anger, greed my mind also got scared.
